BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Orders were flashed to all universities today to exclude Jewish students from lectures, as the walls of an economic and social ghetto closed in more tightly upon the Jews.

The minister for cultural affairs, Bernhard Rust, telegraphed the order of exclusion to the universities. He also announced that measures soon would be taken forbidding Jews from study at all universities.

Anti-Semitism also was reported rampant in Danzig and Poland.

Lectures were suspended in the Warsaw Mechanical Engineers' college, the official news agency, D.N.B., reported, following Anti-Jewish demonstrations which resulted from Jewish students' refusal to occupy separate "ghetto" benches in lecture rooms.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Local merchants report that Christmas buying has already started, and that they look for a good holiday season. The buyers of today are far sighted ones, who realize that they can find better stocks from which to choose if they shop early. They also save a lot of wear and tear on their nerves, as they have more time to think up what they want to get for their friends. There is nothing that upsets one like waiting until near Christmas before starting out to buy.

In connection with driving examinations which are held every periodical the examiners tell us that young men and women show greater adeptness than older ones. This is probably true, but will the young folks be as careful as the older ones when they get on the road? It is one thing to know how to drive, and quite another to know how to drive carefully. Most any policeman will tell you that the young drivers are more inclined to take chances.

If the farmers don't get their corn husked this fall, it will be because they are short of husking pegs. There never was any better fall for getting work done. Dry weather and sunshine have prevailed for so long that we are beginning to believe that the climate must be changing. But we see some people shaking their cocoanuts and exclaiming, "We'll pay up for it later!"

The Lincoln Republican of Beaver county, crack political organization of Western Pennsylvania, is planning to go to Harrisburg for the inaugural of Governor-elect, Judge Arthur H. James. The club, which has appeared in New Castle several times, has made several trips to Washington to attend presidential inaugurations, and has attended at least one gubernatorial inaugural. It is probable that New Castle will send a delegation to the big show, but they won't be decked out with skyscraper hats and other paraphernalia like the Beaver county boys.

Five Needles Death Threat For Burglar

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Five sewing needles, loaded with slow but sure death for whoever touches them, today were the object of a city-wide police hunt.

Harmless enough in appearance, each needle carries 10 milligrams of radium concealed in one end—enough to cause widespread casualties if they fall into unsuspecting hands.

The potential instruments of death were stolen during the week-end by a bungling thief who broke into the office of Dr. Julius Kaufman, Brooklyn X-ray specialist.

Police, convinced that the burglar was ignorant of the deadly nature of the needles, feared he had discarded them where they might be picked up by children.

Detectives conducted a painstaking canvass of hospitals and doctors on the possibility that the thief might try to sell the radium, valued at $1,500.

Distilleries Are Damaged By Fire

(International News Service)
OWENSBORO, Ky., Nov. 14.—The damage ranging between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 was caused by a fire that swept part of the Glenmore distilleries plant here early Sunday. It was estimated today.

The blaze was checked before it spread to warehouses containing $5,000,000 worth of aging whiskey, officials of the company stated. One warehouse containing 42,000 barrels and a boiler plant were destroyed.

The origin of the fire could not be determined.

District Attorney Carl B. Shelley's right to head the grand jury inquiry. But he added significantly: "I'm not going to wait three months by any means."

A fortnight was considered the likely interim.

Should the attorney general appeal, Judge Schaeffer said, the action would serve as a supersedeas, staying the grand jury proceedings pending determination of the appeal.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14.—The Committee for Industrial Organization, John L. Lewis' greatest achievement in the field of organized labor, gathered forces here today for its first formal convention.

At this meeting a charter and a constitution will be drafted and adopted, and the persistent dream of re-union between the CIO and the American Federation of Labor will become more ethereal than ever.

The Lewis forces convened here talking of peace, but they laid down terms which the A. F. of L. has already said it will not accept. Inevitably, during the coming week of debate and resolutions—adopting there will be peace proposals from varying sources. But if the report which Lewis read to the approximately 450 delegates assembled here this morning is any indication of sentiment, there will be no peace.

Wounds Wife And Kills "Lover" In Eternal Triangle

Bangor, Pa., Tap-Room Owner Is Behind Bars Charged With Murder

(International News Service)
BANGOR, Pa., Nov. 14.—Charged with critically wounding his estranged wife and slaying her purported lover in what police termed a "love triangle," John Cuono, 41-year-old North Bangor taproom proprietor and barber, today was behind prison bars.

Struck by four bullets, Richard Klinge, 31, of North Bangor, died instantly as he sat in a chair last night at the home of Raymond Bushkirk, next door neighbor of Cuono's mother-in-law. After critically wounding his wife, Madeline, 31, Cuono surrendered to police.

Police said Cuono and his wife were separated a year ago and the husband was allowed custody of their three children on Sundays. Klinge, a WPA worker, also married and the father of two children, had been separated from his wife for two years, authorities reported.

The tragedy was precipitated, police said, when Cuono, returning the children to his mother-in-law's home after entertaining them for the day, saw Klinge's automobile parked outside the Bushkirk home.

ARMY AND AIR CORPS TO BENEFIT

Ten Thousand Fighting Planes May Be Provided Under New Proposals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.

Army and navy defense experts will recommend that President Roosevelt call upon congress to provide an outlay of $2,000,000,000 next year to provide vital war equipment to guarantee the security of the western hemisphere against foreign aggression, it was reliably reported today.

A responsible official stated to International News Service today that, in the light of recent events in Europe and the Far East, last year's record national defense budget of $1,000,000,000 must be doubled this year to provide the minimum defense needs of the army, navy and air corps.

The recommendation, tentative as yet, is the result of the intensive re-study of national defenses ordered recently by President Roosevelt in the wake of the Munich "peace."

One principal recommendation, it was learned, calls for the creation of a combined army and navy fleet of 10,000 fighting planes of all types to match the German air armada.

Many of these planes, according to the new defense plans, would be placed in war reserve storage for instant use in an emergency.

A special "defense" tax is being studied by treasury experts as a means of financing the enormous outlay.

Salient points of the new defense plans were reported to call for:

1. Tripling of the present air corps authorization of 2,320 "front line" fighting planes, which will not

Supreme Court Hears Arguments

Constitutionality Of T. V. A. Is Issue As Final Statements Are Made

UTILITIES BATTLE POWER PROGRAM

By WILLIAM E. NEAL
International News Service Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The final battle of private utilities to have the power "yardstick" program of the $500,000,000 Tennessee Valley Authority declared unconstitutional, was to be staged in oral arguments before the supreme court today.

The case, which involves the greatest threat to major New Deal legislation now before the court, originated in the suit of 16 utilities who feel the brunt of TVA power competition.

Issue At Stake

The issue, as projected before the court by the utilities, is: Has the government told the truth when it says the gigantic TVA program is primarily for purposes of navigation, flood control and national defense?

"Smoke Screen"

The utilities accuse the government of using these admittedly constitutional purposes as a "smoke screen" to cover a brazen power program which has for its objective the driving out of business of private industry.

The government, replying sharply in briefs inside the court, says the TVA is to improve navigation on the Mississippi, to aid in controlling floods both on the Tennessee and Mississippi and, in producing nitrate, to aid the national defense.

In a previous case, the court, in an 8 to 1 decision, upheld the TVA act as involved in production of power at Wilson Dam. The decision was narrow, however, thus paving the way for the new attack.

GERMANY ORDERS JEWISH STUDENTS TO LEAVE SCHOOLS

Warsaw, said Bz Ammitag, and one Pole was seriously injured in a street quarrel with Jews.

Apparently heading a movement to get wealthy Jews to aid their poorer brethren, President Sialhi of the Jewish Brotherhood, called to Berlin about 200 prominent Jews in Berlin.

He asked them to try to do something to get the damage to their stores and homes repaired.

The meeting, it was assumed, was held with government sanction, since it would have been raided by the Gestapo, the secret police, had it taken place without official approval.

Loss Of Business Faced

Loss of their businesses nearly today for the Jews of Germany, already having under "fines" amounting to $1,000 per capita, and forced to pay for the damage inflicted on their shops Thursday by angry German crowds.

Officials of the labor front, it was expected, shortly will issue orders whereby "Aryan" employees of the smashed shops will take over the stores' management. Complete "Aryanization" of the stores will be the final step.

Arrests of Jews meanwhile continued over the week end as police kept up their sweeps on houses and apartments. Hundreds of Jews remained away from their homes to avoid being picked up.

Some "Aryans" who objected to the Anti-Semitic demonstrations have been arrested likewise, it was understood.

Fury over the killing of a German diplomat in Paris has spread to the free city of Danzig, according to an account in the Zwofelblatt.

The synagogue at Zoppot, within the free city area, burned down, the paper said. Police raided Jewish homes, seeking arms.

Sixteen were arrested, including some persons of Polish nationality.

Thrusting of the Jews into an economic "ghetto" coincided with a new Anti-Catholic outburst in which demonstrators broke up a Catholic demonstration in Munich, where the house of Cardinal Faulhaber was stoned Saturday.

It is still possible to find communities where farmers turn out by the dozens to aid an unfortunate neighbor, who has had an accident or is ill, or where the head of the home has been taken by death. An instance of this kind occurred at Woodbine, Pa., last week when ninety-six neighbors of farmer John Markel, turned out and husked his corn. Markel had been injured and had been greatly worried until the good Samaritans arrived.

The millennium hasn't arrived in New Castle yet, but it appears to be on the way. When Mrs. J. E. Laurell, of 616 Forrest street, returned from a visit to Finland, a year ago, she brought back a packet of Walmo seeds, which she planted in her garden this spring. This summer a beautiful collection of Walmo flowers was the result of her efforts. These flowers are still in bloom, and look as healthy as ever. Several of Mrs. Laurell's friends are congratulating her upon her success in the cultivation and growth of these beautiful flowers, as they also had brought seeds here with them from Finland, but have been unsuccessful in securing their growth, due to the climatic difference existing in this country.

Saturday morning, a Long avenue grocer received an unusual request from one of his customers, for a can of green grape plums. ### AUTO INDUSTRY GOES FORWARD

FOR years it has been believed that the automobile industry had reached the limit of its development, that the motor car could not be improved in any important respect, and that the imaginations of designers and skill of engineers had been exhausted. Now comes the time for the annual showing of the new lines of automobiles and gives the lie to the predictions of the skeptics and others who thought the cars of a few years ago were the last word.

But leaders in the automobile industry were not satisfied and even today are not satisfied that the limit has been reached in providing refinements and safety features. They have not been content at any time to rest on their laurels. Because of this restless eagerness to blaze new trails, their industry has gone ahead constantly, even when the depression's grip held other industries hard and fast in a deathlike grip.

And now we come to show time. The period of the year when the automobile of 1939 is being offered for the approval of a public whose interest in all that pertains to motor transportation never apparently wanes.

The new cars demonstrate once more that this industry goes forward constantly to bigger and better things.

WHERE'S THE MONEY GOING?

Here's an interesting and illuminating fact just brought to light by the National Association of Cost Accountants:

One-third of the total amount of American industrial income last year went to the tax collectors. This constitutes 18.5 per cent of aggregate payrolls.

No wonder business is having a hard time getting back on its feet. When the costs of government absorb a third of the entire return from productive enterprise, the average employer can scarcely be blamed for wondering whether business initiative is worth the effort it takes.

SPELLING BEES NOW THE VOUE

The old-fashioned spelling bee, which for many years seems to have been stored away in the attic with other relics of other days, seems to have drawn a second lease on life.

For spelling bees are again the style. With the radio emphasizing the movement, these public tests of a person's ability to sort and collect the letters properly for tough English words seem to be sweeping the country from one end to the other. Oldersters as well as youngsters are interested.

This new "game" should be emphatically encouraged, whether in rural school or metropolitan broadcasting station. The average American has never been too certain of his spelling. And in recent years he seems to have become more uncertain than ever. Good spellers aren't born; they are made. So anything that stores in our memories the correct combination of letters for certain words is to be desired.

KEEPING UP ITS DIVIDEND RECORD

In declaring a 50-cent dividend, the only one for this year, the Pennsylvania Railroad maintains its consistent record for payments to stockholders through good and bad times. This small disbursement, compared with the total of $1.25 declared last year, reflects the special difficulties all the railroads have been encountering in 1938.

For the first eight months of this year the Pennsylvania was in the red, but the September pickup enabled it to close the nine-month period two millions to the good. Continued improvement in traffic may produce net earnings of 70 cents a share for the year, compared with $2.07 in 1937.

This is operating on an exceedingly narrow margin. Taxes alone amount to much more than dividends. When the strongest major railroad is having such trouble making ends meet, the plight of the carriers as a whole needs no description. Removal of the special handicaps under which they labor is necessary, if they are to take advantage of general business recovery.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

FATHER OF THE TURKS

Despite the dictatorial methods which he employed, Kemal Ataturk was strongly attached to the principles of democracy and he sought to modernize his nation along the lines of western civilization.

Under Ataturk, Turkey renounced her Asiatic culture and acquired a European aspect. His training was military, but he always had nationalist, democratic, and revolutionary tendencies.

In the Turkish revolution of 1908 he was chief of staff to Mahmud Shevket and, as such, he helped force Abdul Hamid to grant his people a constitution. Disappointed in the direction of the Young Turkish Revolution of 1908, he visited France in 1910, where he became convinced of the superiority of the western European civilization. He devoted the remaining years of his life to the task of "civilizing" and modernizing Turkey.

Ataturk established a de facto Turkish republic at Ankara in 1920, but it was not until 1923 that Sultan Mohammed VI was deposed and Mustafa Kemal was proclaimed president.

The dictator-president was thorough in his westernization programme. He abolished polygamy and controlled divorce. Woman suffrage was granted, European dress became the vogue, schools were open to women and sex was no longer a bar to any trade or profession.

Mohammedanism remained the state religion until April, 1928, when its preferred status was denied. In 1926 the Turkish government remodelled its legal codes on the Swiss, Italian and German.

Ataturk was particularly restless in his war against illiteracy, which was reduced to about 42 per cent in 1933. The Gregorian calendar was introduced, the Latin alphabet replaced the Turkish character alphabet. The printing of new books in Turkish characters was banned in 1929.

In a similar manner industry, culture and social reforms have made progress along the lines of western civilization. Turkish foreign policy has been constructive and her demands have been reasonable.

Ataturk means "Father of the Turks." The title was well chosen. As the champion of a reborn people, he made for them a favorable place in the sun; he brought industrial prosperity and cultural pleasures to a backward people. He leaves in Turkey today very concrete evidence of his constructive programme.

There is an island in the South Seas where the people have no word for "dishonor." They have no money.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CLOTHES AFFECT PERSONALITY

The clothes a child wears affect his personality. If he supposes they are very different in style from those worn by most of his playmates, even though his clothes are much more expensive, he may feel inferior. Although he is not conscious of that, his dress makes him seem odd, the peculiar response to him on this account by other children may make him feel uncomfortable without his knowing why.

In a chapter on "Clothes and Personality," in one of my books, I have written:
"The child of three or ten, dressed very differently from those with whom he mingles, is told by other children that he is different. So long as clothes are neat and clean and tidy, and not noticeably different in style from those worn by the child's associates, remarks of disapproval are seldom made. The economic status of a child's parents need not affect his dress in these modern days when styles are widely standardized and when there is little financial inducement for parents, however poor, to make their children's clothes."

How They're Acquired
"No doubt most worries and sensitivities of children about clothes, especially of adolescent children, are acquired by the expressed anxieties of their parents and other adults with whom they mingle. . . . Parents of average and very limited means are inclined to dress their children better than they can afford, thus laying the foundation of an unreasonable expectation in these matters. . . . Some children, before school age, are forever trailing their parents to purchase clothes like those a playmate has. Eternal strife to keep up with the Joneses brings endless grief to contented laggards behind, and in the race the also-rans are the keenest sufferers from humiliation that may linger longer. . . ."

The child who wears a fine quality of clothes, bought at unreasonable personal sacrifice by his parents or some other person, expects continued sacrifices from them, and loses to that degree an appreciation of the cost entailed and the experience needful to self-preparation for earning his own clothes by and by. Then, with these unhealthy standards set and the low standards of self-acquirement cultivated in the child, he is doomed to suffer when left to go it alone. Then, the consciousness of clothes and the suffering incident to the inability to afford the kind he has been trained to have will be almost insupportable.

"Therefore, the parent who trains the child to a reasonable standard in regard to the quality of clothes he wears, contributes toward his greatest personal satisfaction in respect to dress."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ENGLISH

The language of the people of these United States is supposed to be the English language, but just as the French is not classic French, so is our language not that of the Elizabethan Era.

Take our money, for instance: "This said, 'He is not worth a 'penny'," meaning he is not worth a five-cent piece, though in truth the word "penny" was of Louisiana coinage. It was the word given to the Spanish half-real, valued at six and one-fourth cents.

In Pennsylvania a "bit" was twelve and one-half cents and a "fipenny" was of half that value or six and one-fourth cents.

West of the Mississippi, the people seldom speak of "a quarter" or "twenty-five cents." They say "two bits" or all fractions of a dollar are "ten bits," "four bits" or "six bits."

The old "dry goods" firms of New Castle used to price yardage at so many "shillings a yard," but unlike the English "shilling," which is about twenty-five cents, the clerk referred to half that amount when she said "a shilling a yard."

It is interesting to find that the precursor of "penny" is the French "picaillon," an old copper coin of Piedmont, France, which was adopted in North America by the French colonists.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Oh have I loved over care
To see it pass and then return;
Walked many a mile of thoroughfare,
A tiny inch of gain to earn.

Oh have I dreaded cares to be,
And wished them something I could shun,
But something deep inside of me
Has held me fast (ill) they were done.

And this I know, almost too late,
Who sits too long with fear and dread
Brings needless trouble to his gate
And needless worry to his bed.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

As an enthusiastic dry fly fisherman was about to start operations at the remote creek he visited each year he noticed someone ahead of him, an engagingly, freckled-faced youth, who suddenly whizzed a snake-like lure into the water.

Watching as he peered in, the fisherman could see that the boy had five or six plus tandem spinners and bucktails lashed together in a contrivance about 20 inches long.

"Son, what do you call that?" he asked.

"That," said the lad "is my cafeteria bait."

"Cafeteria bait? That's the strangest lure I ever saw. Why do you call it that?"

"Well, you see, it's like this," cried the boy. "I drag it by the fish and they pick out what they want."

You might get away with calling the daughter a chicken but don't ever try calling her mother a hen.

And as one South Side cat put it: Everything I want to do is either illegal, immoral or fattening.

Many colleges accept raw meat in exchange for tuition—a good deal back on the hoof.

When a girl said her boy friend didn't smoke, drink or swear, her dearest friend remarked sweetly: "Does he make all his own dresses, too?"

SOME REMARKABLE REMARKS

Why not start a "Family Get-together day?"

"You say your mother is taking a course?" Yes, she is learning to read her own handwriting.

In a few years people will be asking what it was in 1929 that we feared.

Prior to 1929 we would say proudly that we had sold a house, but later were telling how we got rid of one.

Reader's Question Answered
Dear Miss Market—I have been bled to "the dantant." What is it? I am in a quandary.—Freshman.

Answer—The dantant pronounced [dahn tahnt] is a French for tea dance. It takes place in the afternoon and tea is served between dances. Accept if possible. You will probably have a delightful time. And wear your very best street-length, afternoon clothes.

Good Taste

REG. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Market

A man, meeting a woman of his acquaintance, should not merely touch his hat but lift it entirely from his head. If he is smoking he should remove his cigarette or cigar from his mouth when he speaks.

If he steps to talk to a woman he should hold his hat in his hand, except when the elements make it uncomfortable to do so. Should he and the woman walk along together he should, of course, put his hat on.

Now you can say "former Chinese market" unless we have the innards, to pass a law barring the goods of any nation that bars ours from territory it controls.

Mr. Baldo—Is this hatlonie you're putting on my head any good?

Chips—Good? Don't you see I have to wear rubber gloves to keep the hair from sprouting on my fingers?

It looks as if there will be no laws changed or passed in Pennsylvania to keep officeholders out of jail soon again.

This new swing dance paced by the rhythm of the drum is so realistic you can almost smell the missionary cooking in the pot!

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—Elmer Andrews, in charge of wage-hour law enforcement, is the most poverty-stricken official in Washington—officially poverty-stricken. I mean, not personally. Congress made very skimpy financial provision for the wage-hour outfit when the act was passed and right now, with the new regulations just going into effect, a large and capable staff particularly is needed, which is precisely what Andrews hasn't nearly enough money to pay for. He has no doubt that the national legislators will vote him a far more liberal allowance soon after they meet in January, but that doesn't help matters in the meantime. A scheme was evolved shortly after the bureau came into being to divert funds to it from other government set-ups to help the wage-hour folk out. It failed to "take," however. The other set-ups couldn't use it for a minute. There was considerable question as to such a diversion of legal money.

So the wage-hour crowd are doing their damndest to keep their heads above water with a skeleton organization for the present. To be sure, it isn't so enervated-looking a crew at first glance. There are lots of stenographers and holo-girls, but it quickly becomes apparent that there's an unusual scarcity of key executives.

Swamped With Visitors
The place simply is swamped with inquiring visitors—important persons, too—big lawyers, industrial magnates and members of Congress. Moreover, they have extremely significant problems that they want solved for them. They literally jostle one another.

The other day I saw a United States senator in General Counsel Calvert Magruder's outer office. "I only want 15 minutes with Mr. Magruder," he explained. The guardian of the inner portal investigated. Then, repeating, "Mr. Magruder," he said, "will you see if you'll make it two minutes." The senator acquiesced and, in about 90 seconds, he reappeared in the outer office.

There may be a medium of bluff in this hustle, but I think it's largely genuine. I never before saw a name of federal employees so hectic and, seemingly, honestly busy. Generally a government office is rather leisurely. It may be upstaged with the hot pants but it's respectful to senators. This bunch is so scrambled and swayed with haste that it hasn't time to discriminate. My opinion is that it's half cuckoo with hurry.

Of course it must make plenty of mistakes, transacting business in such a rush.

Indeed, it knows it. Chief Andrews is quite aware that the whole wage-hour law will be in the courts, and on up to the Federal Supreme Court, shortly. It doesn't care enough best to be overruled as long as possible. It just can't help being summary.

Sparks Well Of Bosses
Chief Andrews speaks well of employers. He says it shows an inclination to comply with the new law.

He really doesn't know much about it. He hasn't the equipment to get out and investigate—not having the money to investigate. He admits as much.

The real war will begin after Congress has given him the cash to launch a campaign. He's got to have an investigational force. Briefly, he wants to have "bops" and to have it attacked; then he can defend the wage-hour program.

Naturally General Counsel Magruder is defensively "making medicine" as Andrews says.

Magruder is about as consequent as Andrews. But they haven't, as yet, the financial snows of war—either of them.

It will be an ugly fight—only just beginning.

What Noted People Say

CINCINNATI—Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, retired, urges formation of a coalition government. "We must unite the good people of America who are still in the great majority in one and the same party."

MENLO PARK, Cal.—Former president Herbert Hoover calls for national preparedness. "Ours should be argument for defense, not aggression."

CALLANER, Ont.—Dr. A. R. Dufosse has a kindly but firm responsibility for the quackish plea that they be permitted to get up following their free-pity consultation. "No."

NEW YORK—Rabbi Abraham Feinberg pleads for a stiffening of morale by powerful Democrats: "If freedom is not soon uplifted as the banner of a new unity within the remaining Democracies, freedom will have to be saved on a new battlefield."

TRENTON, N. J.—Gov. A. Harry Moore strikes out at subversive forces: "It is time that those who have found a home and safety and opportunity in America understand that we will not permit our institutions to be betrayed."

Mr. Baldo—Is this hatlonie you're putting on my head any good?

Chips—Good? Don't you see I have to wear rubber gloves to keep the hair from sprouting on my fingers?

This new swing dance paced by the rhythm of the drum is so realistic you can almost smell the missionary cooking in the pot!

Words of Wisdom
The kindest and the happiest pair will find occasion to forbear; and something, every day they live, in pity and perhaps forgive.—Cowper.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Mr. Farley In Front

Washington, Nov. 14. NOW that the elections are over and the returns duly analyzed by the learned publicists who so constantly refer to themselves as "objective observers," it may be worth while to stress some of the things deduced by the readers in the world of practical politics.

AMONG these, there is substantial agreement upon a number of points. For example, there is no dissent at all upon the topic of a third term for Mr. Roosevelt as a Democratic President. Few clear-headed politicians took any real stock in the notion that he would be nominated again, even if the election had resulted in a New Deal sweep. When one considers what actually happened the suggestion becomes grotesque. Talk of it, perhaps may continue among the little group of gossamer radicals around the President. From time to time it will be voiced by such super statesmen as Mr. Harold Ickes and the ubiquitous Mr. Hopkins. And it may be written about by the more credulous newspaper men. But from now on no adult political or journalistic intelligence will treat the subject seriously.

ANOTHER point on which thoughtful politicians are in accord is that the idea of Franklin Roosevelt doing a Theodore Roosevelt—that is, forming his own party, calling all "liberals" to his banner and making an independent fight for "policies" in 1940, is unreal. The reasons are clear—first, Theodore Roosevelt in 1912 and Robert M. La Follette Sr. in 1924 demonstrated the complete futility of that kind of performance. The one certain result is the election of a Republican. Second, this Roosevelt lacks the stomach for a last-charge fight that those men had. Third, the recent election results in Wisconsin and Minnesota show the present temper of the people distinctly unfavorable to third parties.

THESE BEING the facts, what is the logical deduction of realistic men in politics concerning the next Democratic nominee? Clearly, that inevitably he will be a compromise candidate. There can, they say, be no other answer and their reasoning is persuasive. It runs as follows: Considering now that Mr. Roosevelt cannot dictate either nominee or platform, equally it must be admitted that the conservatives cannot win with a candidate whom Mr. Roosevelt will not support. Just as the conservative would certainly not accept a Hopkins or an Ickes, a Wallace Jackson or a Murphy, neither would the New Dealers accept a McNutt, a Clark, a Wheeler or a Brand. Fine men as they are, both Secretary Hull and Vice-President Garner seem automatically ruled out because of their age. And both sides dismiss Senator Barkley on the ground of general unfitness.

WHERE then, it is asked, is the ideal compromise candidate to be found? What man personally and politically friendly with Mr. Roosevelt, at the same time is liked by the conservative and Anti-New Deal Democrats? Certainly enough there is a rather striking unanimity as to the answer among the severely practical fellows who think of 1940 in terms of delegates. Most of these mention the name of James A. Farley. They mention it not for publication, but nevertheless as meeting this view of the practical way out a jam. Mr. Farley, of course, would be the first to deprecate this idea. His position requires him to be a hundred per cent loyal to the President—and he is. While it precludes him from promoting anyone else's candidacy, it also precludes him from promoting his own—and he isn't going to give any grounds for claiming he is doing either.

NEVERTHELESS, the fact remains that Mr. Farley, today, is stronger than he has before last Tuesday. He is the only New Deal leader not damaged either by the result of the elections or the failure of the primary "purges" to which he was opposed. The victory in New York enriches his personal control of the delegation from that State. It was (Continued On Page Five)

Business Responds Favorably To Gains By Republicans

By LEON W. SIMLOSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Business continued its forward march right through the usually dull pre-election period, and today was maintaining its upward surge, according to reports reaching the government from all parts of the country.

Responds To Republican Gains With the building industry still leading the return from depression, the entire economic front apparently had responded favorably to Republican gains in Tuesday's balloting.

Industrial output zoomed and is approaching its top mark of the year, relief rolls declined, and trade—both wholesale and retail—continued to improve.

But construction activity still was far ahead of the field, thus virtually assuring the permanence of the recovery trend, if the axiom, "as building goes, so goes industry," is to be trusted.

More Building

Secretary of Labor Perkins disclosed that up to October 1, more than 197,000 new dwelling units had been erected in urban centers alone since the opening of the calendar year, an 18 per cent increase over the same period in 1937. Of greatest significance, however, was Miss Perkins' revelation that, with only one per cent of this increase registered in the first six months of this year, residential building rocketed 62 per cent in July, August and September.

Miss Perkins' report was based on figures gathered from 2,100 cities having a population of more than 60,000 persons. The entire urban area of the nation includes 3,165 cities populated by about 60,000,000 people.

Encouraging Reports The encouraging reports on general business were received by the commerce department. The sharp improvement in industrial output was attributed chiefly to advances in steel and automobile production, while cooler weather was credited partially for the improvement in retail and wholesale trade.

Confirmation of Miss Perkins' report on residential building was forthcoming from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which announced that the American people began building nearly twice as many homes in September than during the same month last year. Related to this announcement was advice from the board that foreclosures on city and town property were 21.7 per cent less during September than they were during September, 1937.

Encouraging reports of improving farm conditions, too, were reported by the weather bureau and agriculture department, which pointed out that increasingly alarming droughts in the south west and northwest had been broken by substantial rains, bringing a sharp upswing in crop prospects.

Probe Of Fatal Forest Fire Ends

Official Investigation Of Forest Disaster Near Emporium Concluded

EIGHT C.C.C. YOUTHS VICTIMS IN BLAZE

(International News Service)

EMPORIUM, Pa., Nov. 14.—A coroner's jury report finding camp officials guilty of laxity and negligence has closed the official investigation of a forest fire near here last month which caused the deaths of eight C. C. C. campers sent out to fight the flames.

The fire, the coroner's jury of woodsmen decided after hearing testimony for nine days, was of incendiary origin and was set by "some person or persons unknown."

District Attorney Edwin W. Tompkins who conducted the investigation, said the report covered the five C. C. C. boys who died at the scene of the fire in Cameron county. The other three died in hospitals in two other counties and Tompkins said he anticipated similar findings by the coroner's juries there.

The jury found that the C. C. C. campers were sent out to battle the flames without having first received proper instruction in methods of fighting forest fires. It found also that although safety meetings were held at the camps, they did not include instruction on battling forest fires. Major officials of the camp were not present at the time the forest fire broke out and the fighting forces were improperly organized, the jury charged in its report.

The jury recommended that army officers in charge of the camp be reprimanded and disciplined in accordance with army regulations. It also urged cooperation between the army and the U. S. forestry service to prevent a repetition of similar tragedies.

They Take Pride in Their Jobs

THAT girl at the switchboard... the man in the manhole... that husky fellow atop a pole... the young lady in the Telephone Business Office.

They're typical telephone men and women. And wherever you meet them and talk with them for a while, you'll notice these things:

A certain pride in the job they're doing. A feeling that it's part of an important service to the community and the nation. A desire to do the job the best they know how—and they do know how.

You'll notice, too, a strong sense of loyalty to their company and a sincere friendliness that has made

"the voice with a smile" something more than a famous phrase. Perhaps all this is best summed up in another famous phrase—"the spirit of service."

All America knows what that means. It has been demonstrated in fire, flood and storm... and in your everyday telephone service, the finest in the world.

Graham Can Get Offices At Once

Newly Elected Local Congressman Can Get Located At Washington Before Term Starts

ALLOWED $5000 FOR YEARLY CLERK HIRE

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—H. ARTHUR LOUIS GRAHAM of Beaver, newly-elected member of the House of Representatives from the Lawrence-Beaver-Butler district, wants to get at his congressional job immediately. He will find an office in the House Office Building and be in his congressional stationery printed at the government printing office.

This is a courtesy accorded members-elect by the clerks of the house. Attorney Graham is not nominally entitled to an office until next January 3. But according to past practice, if he comes to Washington early to get settled before congress starts he will be fitted out with office accommodations.

Representatives are allowed $5000 a year for clerk hire, but not more than $5000 of this may be paid to one person. They are allowed free use of an up-to-date gymnasium, which has an athletic director and all modern equipment, including steam cabinets and reducing apparatus of various kinds. They receive free medical service from a navy medical officer regularly stationed at the Capitol and are hospitalized free at the U. S. Naval Hospital here, if necessary.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

News summary of report of this department's expedition into the jungles of youth.

Hats—Many of the girls carry them instead of wearing them. Reason, the new up-sweeping coiffure. The prevailing idea would ride the high waves precariously. Hence, they frequently are a mere decorative detail of the costume ensemble, with attractive clips to fasten them to a handbag or jacket lapel. The noted Miss Seiborn of New York says that hats are designed for wearing, rather than just totting, are tending mainly toward simplicity. The new hair-do finds sports styles, which are quite rational, as the best adapted to this change. Brims are mainly up, to make the most of the snappy new hair arrangement, and there is apt to be a long, stiff, feather.

Dresses—Girls are going juvenile and boys are going loud, although the boys, too, are clinging to kid tricks in both dress and behavior. Dresses run a great deal to Buster Brown collars and shorter skirts, with anklets and no stockings. Certain of the tribes studied by this expedition were resistant to the long evening gown, and inclined to ignore convention whenever possible, as it is inconvenient when the younger natives indulge in a quaint revel known as "shag." This same exercise is also banishing high heels and restoring low ones.

Boys have taken to living, possibly sleeping, mainly in the hammock, beer jacket. Our expedition made drawings of it, but reports that it is quite indescribable, except that it is much longer than an ordinary jacket and seems to be a mischievous caricature of formal attire. (Note by social expert of expedition: Adolescents are caricaturing our somewhat muddled adult civilization in many ways.)

Boys' footwear is running to suede shoes and gum soles. Trousers are loose and floppy, clearing just above the ankles, and are cut high in the arm-pits. Frequently with a dash of horseblanket in color effects, with color dissonance esteemed as subtly echoing similar cacophonies in the wilderness of shag. Suspenders are louder and louder.

Speech—The expedition had hoped to capture a few young natives for intensive study of their means of communication, but, failing in this has little to report. Unquestion-ably they do communicate, but no known philological approach was helpful in deciphering their linguistic code. We are examining such apparently meaningful expressions as "swing cat," "corner," and "in the groove."

Jewelry—Facet and bodily adornments are constantly bigger and bolder. Brooches of costume jewelry may be as large as the palm of one's hand. Earrings are becoming larger and bewilderingly varied in design. All jewelry is securely moored, by native mechanical processes, so it will be safe for the desired jangle and jangle of shag—a semi-ritualistic dance which frequently jars the dancer's whole family.

Cultural Raiding—Their indigenous "swing" music has caused a threat of war between these and neighboring adult tribes. They have adapted their swing beat to such treasured music as "Martha," the operatic piece, "Loch Lomond," and "The Campbells Are Coming." This has been profoundly resented by the ancient people among whom such folk strains originated.

One of their earliest and most provocative rhythms was "The Organ Grinder's Swing," to which many later pieces seem similar or derivative. There are, however, many quite unique, and charmingly ingenious, if not juvenile excitements, such as one known as "A Tisket a Tasket."

Their hands are predominantly brass, excellently suited to the crashing impact of cunningly devised dissonance. In the more highly urbanized areas they are apt to be large and famous "name" bands, but along the more remote jungle by-ways they are of four or five pieces, the instrumentalists rising from the central tribe of hoofers and spoofers. Their "shag" dance requires a degree of virtuosity which makes it known among them as "an act."

Appendix—The expedition's division on plastic cement was examining the following thesis: Is the thwarting of youth in its entry into normal adulthood—jobs, responsibility, marriage—causing it to revert to juvenile patterns of behavior?

To Return Part Of Pageant Fund

(International News Service)

STUEBENVILLE, O., Nov. 14.—Executives of Ohio's northwest territory celebration today prepared to return $3,000 to the state treasury as the closing event in Columbus, today.

The celebration officials revealed that of the $40,000 voted by the legislature to aid in observing the sesquicentennial of six states, only $37,000 has been spent. This city was the first in which the federal pageant was presented after the "modern pioneers" started down the Ohio river from West Newton, Pa., as did the original settlers 150 years ago.

The pageanters traveled 18,975 miles from Massachusetts to Minnesota and return to Marietta, it was estimated.

Even in the midst of strenuous action he will stop, relax. The dog does that instinctively, though his nerves are complex, high-keyed like our own.

We, trained for the intense stress of modern life, are likely to ignore the distress signals of our nerves—the instinctive urge to rest. So often, we let our will-power drive us on at a task, heedless of nerve tension.

Cash Income For Farmers Holds Up Well In State

By ARTHUR C. WIMER

Special Washington Correspondent

New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—

The cash income of farmers from sales of principal farm products has been holding up better in Pennsylvania than the country at large, according to a study by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

During the first nine months of this year, Pennsylvania farmers realized cash receipts of $180,556,000, from sales of principal products. This was a decline of $17,115,000, or not quite nine per cent, below the corresponding 1937 period. In the country as a whole, on the other hand, such income dropped 13 per cent.

Cash income of Pennsylvania farmers from sales of principal crops fell from $53,180,000 in the first nine months of 1937 to $37,953,000 in the corresponding period this year. Income from sales of principal livestock and products decreased from $143,970,000 to $140,282,000. Federal AAA payments to farmers of the state increased from $1,512,000 to $2,321,000.

WILL PROVIDE U. S. DEFENSE

Do Not Believe Next Congress Will Seek Many Innovations However

LONG SESSION IS LIKELY TO RESULT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Unless unexpected situations develop, the New Deal may avoid proposing far-reaching, experimental measures to the next congress which might bring about a party split, Democratic leaders indicated today.

Aside from a determination to propose a huge rearmament program to congress, the Roosevelt administration program still is in the tentative stage.

Rep. Sam Rayburn, of Texas, Democratic leader of the house, refused to commit himself to any predictions that the next congress will be long in session, a Republican-Democratic manning New Deal return.

"The session may be long but I don't look for a great deal of business," said Rayburn. "I think the Democrats in the house will vote as Democrats, and there will be no coalition."

Rayburn said that "the country wants adequate defense" and the administration will propose measures to insure that. He said that he had heard estimates of cost running as high as $5,000,000,000 over a period of years.

Congress must revise and revamp tax laws because many expire and "nuisance" taxes expire, he said. Some revision of the Social Security program is inevitable, he added.

The entire legislative situation will be discussed by President Roosevelt and congressional leaders at the president's Warm Springs, Ga., cottage in the near future.

Dr. Daffoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CHILDREN SHOULD BE TAUGHT TO PLAY THE GAME.

One thing we are stressing with the Quintuplets every day in the value of true sportsmanship; that it is the playing of the game that counts, not the winning of it.

Recently I attended a banquet given for Joe McCarthy, pilot of that famous baseball team, the New York Yankees. It was quite an affair, with the presence of outstanding men in the field of sport. As each one talked, I was very much impressed with the fact that in United States and Canada we are training our young people not for war, but in the rudiments of sportsmanship.

I couldn't help but feel that sportsmanship, the kind you see on the school playing field and on the back lots, is the great thing needed to achieve world harmony.

There was no doubt that in the kinds of these leaders in sport, the game was the thing. I came back here to Collender with a renewed determination to see that the Quintuplets were well-trained in this particular angle.

Since I returned, however, I have been delighted to find that none of the five is inclined to be mean or selfish in her play.

Their play has for the most part been supervised. If Annette or Cecile, or any of them, demands more than her share of the play, then her sense of fairness is always appealed to. I am thankful to say that is all that we need to do.

Last summer the children were sick for several weeks. Eunice was sicker than the others, however, and it was quite a while before she was able to play strenuous games with the others. But her sisters knew this, and never once did they take advantage of her when she was playing.

In both our countries, sports play a large part in the life of the young people. They play their games at school; they are athletic rivals between towns; boys are encouraged to play against teams of the neighboring community. This, I believe, is a great thing.

For one thing, this playing the game comes when the boy is young, when he is forming his character and muscles. Another thing I like about sport is that it encourages the formation of good habits. Any boy knows that if he drinks, smokes and keeps late hours, that his days as an athlete are numbered. These good habits usually cling to the boy when he grows up and the playing field has become a thing of the past.

I don't know why it is but we nearly always refer to boys and men when we speak of sports and sportsmanship. I don't know just why that should be, for, today, women have certainly taken their place in the sports world.

Certainly, if I have anything to do with it, the five little girls here in Collender won't take second place to any man in the matter of playing the game.

Opposes Order To Reinstate Strikers Staking Sit-Down

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The nation's courts have universally condemned "sit-down strikes" as illegal, counsel for the Pan-Steel Metallurgical Corporation of North Chicago, asserted in a brief filed in supreme court opposing the contention of the national labor relations board that "sit down" strikers should be reinstated.

The case came to the high court on appeal of the labor board from a decision of the seventh U. S. circuit court at Chicago, which set aside a labor board finding of "unfair labor practices" by the company.

"Neither the seizure nor the destruction of property can be defended as a legitimate labor activity," said the brief.

The judicial condemnation of the "sit down strike" has been universal; its illegality can not be doubted. Certainly it constitutes more than ample cause for the discharge of the participants.

"Neither union sanction for their illegal conduct for the usurpation of the 'strike' label can shield participants in 'sit down strikes' from the discharge which the national labor relations act permits and this court has twice recognized."

Reflections

By J. K.

Like a mongrel with a lopped-off ear, a rural mail box is not beautiful, but generally has personality.

For the most part they are a respectable, self-supporting lot, but the settlement workers should be told that there is serious work to be done in some sections, where whole families of dilapidated boxes live in shocking mail box slums. These poor, forlorn things have a rusty, unkempt appearance; their lids loose and their tongues often hanging out in a pitiful, nobody-loves-me fashion.

Most of the Lawrence county rural boxes are the regulation dinner-bucket lot-of-brand type, approved by Mr. Farley, but there are some with characters unique and distinctly individual. Consider the little streamlined affair, neat and demure, for pink and blue letters only. Touching, and suggesting the feminine hand, too, are those creations nestling in a carefully barbed hedge, comfortable as a hedge-hog.

Then there are the freaks, of course; those merry-go-round contrivances fastened on a horizontal wheel, those milk-fed boxes with posts embedded in milk cans, and those with package trailers, objects of farmer ingenuity, all. The government has frowned upon the "Uncle Sam" boxes which were so popular for a while, and so they are few and far between now, and the stripes on their pants are losing their brilliance.

Interesting are those boxes with mouths at the front, usually wide and straight across, but sometimes lifted in a cheerful smile; optimistic fellows who never get discouraged waiting for a letter with a check inside.

The largest percentage of the boxes around here stand aloof and alone, but sometimes you will meet a whole litter of them. Chummy like, they snuggle together to keep warm, posts of various heights and faces turned in different directions so that they may catch the postman going and coming.

In one district there is a group of eight or ten socialistic boxes. In a friendly, co-operative arrangement, they roost like hens on one long shelf at the side of the road. Not a bit suspicious of each other, they have been sitting there in domestic bliss for the last several years. Not a one has demanded a separate post.

E. And A. Veterans Name Roberts As President

With an inspiring address by Judge Clifford M. Woodside of Youngstown, a series of informal talks by association leaders, an impressive memorial service for the 29 railroaders who died during the past year and the customary election of officers as principal features, more than 150 members of the Erie & Ashtabula Division Veterans' association of the Pennsylvania railroad from many cities participated Saturday afternoon in the organization's 18th reunion program in The Castleton.

The speaking program followed the usual reunion banquet. The dinner was at 12:30, but the day's exercises continued into the late afternoon.

Roberts Is Elected
A New Castle man, Russell W. Roberts, veteran Pennsylvania locomotive engineer, was chosen president of the association for the coming year. He succeeds I. W. Tate, also of this city.

The address of Judge Woodside, for 14 years judge of the probate court in Youngstown, was filled with humor but carried with it a timely serious note which impressed the veterans deeply.

Declaring that he knows well the responsibility attached to railroad-ing, as much so as the veterans do, day's program was R. B. Lally, popular Niles, O., Pennsylvania yardmaster. He introduced Judge Woodside and the other speakers.

The program opened with the singing of "America" before dinner. R. E. Johns of the Pennsylvania's superintendent's office here led the singing.

Throughout the dinner hour the Marimba Rhythm band, composed of talented New Castle musicians, entertained the group.

Postmaster Lally assumed charge right after dinner and, as the program progressed, called upon W. O. Rainie, commissioner-elect of Ashtabula, O., and superintendent of the Ashtabula dock of the M. A. Hanna company; W. Miller Wardrop, Sewickley, one-time E. & A. division superintendent and retired assistant to the general manager of the Central region, and Superintendent Norman M. Lawrence of the E. & A., for brief talks.

The judge spoke last. Absent from the reunion this year was E. A. Fenlon, retired supervising agent of the division, who is in St. Petersburg, Fla. Fenlon has missed few banquets, and sent a message of greetings to the "tall grass division boys."

W. Keys, Rochester, who'll be 80 next Christmas morning. He was pensioned in 1918.

Both Mulholland and Keys are hale and hearty.

In the impressive memorial exercises, 13-year-old Ruth Fehl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Fehl of this city, served as flower girl. Tribute was paid to the memory of 29 deceased veterans.

Elected to office with Roberts on Saturday were: R. B. Lally, Niles, first vice president; Stanley Moresky, Youngstown, second vice president; F. W. Lawrence, Sharpville, third vice president; M. T. Stone, New Castle, fourth vice president; B. G. Peterson, New Castle, fifth vice president; R. E. O'Donnell, New Castle, treasurer; and Edward M. Fisher, New Castle, secretary.

Rotting President I. W. Tate and Secretary Fisher headed the committee on arrangements.

Reconvening Is Set For Tonight

Legislative Session Has Been In Recess Since October 19, For Election

SPECIAL SESSION CALLED LAST JULY

By J. WILLIAM THIES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 14.—The odds today were on a speedy adjournment of the special session of the legislature, called last July primarily to halt a grand jury investigation of the Earle administration and reconvening here tonight.

In recess since October 19, the general assembly picks up a calendar bearing two important items—regulatory legislation on fireworks and anthracite coal—neither calculated to draw heavy interest from a "lame duck" Democratic majority. Only the possibility of further important testimony before the house graft charge investigation committee, meeting again this afternoon, was expected to hold the session longer than this week. Terms of all house members and half the senate membership expires November 30.

One Democratic senator, Samuel L. Gilson, of Erie, voiced a demand that all those accused in the graft charges of District Attorney Carl B. Shelley be called to testify before the house committee. His particular reference was to the Erie "gravel scandal" and his particular interest was evidenced in Arthur Colegrove, former property and supplies secretary, and one of the accused. Gilson said he would move for senate confirmation of Colegrove's appointment several months ago as a public utility commissioner.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 14.—Uneasy lies the head that wears a government crown, and paraphrasing uneasily now are the thousands who hold state jobs. . . . Not only the head of the state government but also the many thousands of capital and state employees who obtained their positions through political patronage face the advent of a Republican administration with foreboding.

There was considerable conjecture in political circles over whether the Public Utility Commission was safe from political uprooting. . . . The Democrats eliminated the Public Service Commission, the PUC's predecessor, by the simple expedient of abolishing it by law. . . . Lack of a Republican majority in the senate may prevent the James administration from following suit.

Democratic legislators were not saying much for publication following the Republican victory at the polls. . . . One of the members of the house graft investigating committee, however, remarked: "It took the Democrats four years to learn what it took the Republicans 40 years to learn, that you can't battle and fight and split in the primary and expect to patch things up satisfactorily in the general election."

In addition, they pointed out, what might have been a clear cut test of New Deal sentiment became, with the graft charges and threat of a grand jury indictment of the Earle administration, a contest complicated by emotional and personal issues. . . . The corruption allegations have generally been denied before a house investigating committee, but remain to be heard by a grand jury.

sent a petition asking for $40 per quarter, for his maintenance in a hospital. The petition was granted.

In the case of William San Felice, whose case was nolle prossed in December, 1937, and the costs placed on him, a petition was presented to court, asking that the costs be remitted, there being no authority in law for levying them in such cases. The petition was granted and the county directed to pay the costs.

Controversy between Charles Shearer and the North Beaver township school board over the payment of tuition for his son, Carl, to the New Castle school district, was heard by Judge Thomas W. Dickey, without a jury on Saturday, both sides signifying a willingness to abide by the decision of the court, as the question involved is largely a matter of law. North Beaver township had paid the tuition for two years, but refused to pay for the third. Shearer maintains that since the township does not furnish high school facilities, it is responsible for the cost of schooling in a district where there is a high school. The point to be decided will set a precedent for other districts.

General Secretary Of Sabbath Schools Heard In Addresses

Walter E. Myers Speaks Sunday
At Highland U. P. And
First Baptist

Two splendid congregations greeted Walter E. Myers, general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath school association Sunday.

The subject of his message at the morning service of the Highland U. P. church was "The Power to Become," which was instructive and inspiring. Mr. Myers made mention of his long service under the late Percy L. Craig, who was state president and also a member of the Highland U. P. church.

At the evening session the county district officers, as well as the delegates to the recent state convention at Clearfield, sat together at the First Baptist church. Mr. Percy L. Craig, in whose home Mr. Myers was a guest, was also present. John W. Owens, choir leader, had the choir delegates sing the consecration song used at the Clearfield convention. The church pastor, Rev. C. H. Heaton, called upon the county president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., to introduce the guest speaker. Secretary Myers presented the work of the Sunday school in an interesting and enlightening way under the subject, "I Belong to the Sunday School." Both attendance and interest were especially good.

NEW CASTLE HIGH DEFEATS MARTINS FERRY 14-0

Roussos And Lauro Score Touchdowns

New Castle High Rings Up Victory In Ohio Town Saturday; Lauro Plunges For First Touchdown; Roussos Takes Ferry Pass And Goes 23 Yards For The Second Marker; Martins Ferry Threatens Local Goal Once; Fair Sized Crowd From New Castle At Game.

DISPLAYING a fine running attack led by Lindy Lauro and Otis Burris, the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" toppled a fast Martins Ferry High team at the Ohio stadium Saturday afternoon 14 to 0. New Castle scored in the second and fourth periods.

New Castle's goal line was never in real danger. Twice New Castle worked the ball to the Ferry goal line only to be thrust back, once by the stop-watch at the end of the first half. Roussos, the New Castle right tackle, made eight of the points himself, scoring on an intercepted pass and kicking two extra points. The work of Steve Gilboy on the line was outstanding.

Scoreless First Period
There was not much excitement in the first period. Roussos kicked off for New Castle and after three plays McDermott kicked to New Castle. New Castle failed to gain much ground and Gilboy booted back to Ferry on the Martins Ferry 47.

Roussos recovered a Ferry fumble on the 49-yard line. Lauro and Roberts made it a first down on the Martins Ferry 38. Roberts and Burris picked up another first down on the Ferry 22. Lauro passed to Cennamo and Bevilacqua intercepted it. After two New Castle penalties the Purple Riders picked up a first down on the New Castle 35. Laules went to the 6-yard line, but Ferry was offside and the play called back.

Pelusak went into the game for Adams at center and picked off a Ferry pass to stop a scoring threat. Roberts and Burris made it a first down for New Castle on the New Castle 46 as the first period ended. Score 0-0.

Lindy Lauro Goes Over
In the second period New Castle started from the local 45 and marched down the field 54 yards for the first score of the game, and in this sustained drive Burris, Roberts and Lauro did a mighty fine piece of ball handling, picking up three first downs in a row. Lauro

New Castle had 15 first downs to four for the Martins Ferry team. Best for the losers was Heffelfinger, Faren and Laules. For New Castle the best linemen of the day were Steve Gilboy and "Socks" Roussos. In the backfield Burris and Lauro were standouts.

New Castle drove down the field to the Ferry 33, where Lauro passed to Cennamo, but Negus got in front of the ball and picked it out of the air. Burris a minute later picked a Ferry pass out of the air thrown by Chontos and it was New Castle's ball on the New Castle 40. Roberts was thrown for a two-yard loss.

Gilboy tried a punt and it was blocked by Ferry and recovered by the Purple Riders on the New Castle 32. Tice ran the ball to the New Castle 25 and Belan made another yard as the third period ended. New Castle 7, Martins Ferry 0.

Roussos Scores Marker.
Martins Ferry began the fourth and final period with the ball on the New Castle 24, and finally lost it on downs on the New Castle 22. Lauro and Roberts made only four yards between them and Gilboy booted out of danger to the Ferry 32. A nick kick. Tice fumbled and Roussos recovered for New Castle on the Ferry 35-yard line. Mandos replaced McDermott for Ferry.

Lauro passed to Cienella, a 23-yard heave, and Cienella was hauled down on the Martins Ferry eight-yard line. Lauro plunged the center for three yards to the Ferry five-yard mark. Roberts went to the three-yard line. Lauro crashed through and it looked as if he was over, but the referee said no, and it was on the 1-yard line. Cienella hit the line hard, but again the Martins Ferry line held and the ball was lost by New Castle on the Ferry one-inch line. McDermott from behind his own goal line kicked out to New Castle on the 50.

Pass Intercepted.
There were just five minutes left in the game. Lauro hit the line for no gain. Lauro passed to Cienella and it was knicked down. Lauro flipped one to Rucker and it was incomplete. Gilboy booted a nice one to Bevilacqua on the Ferry 15 and he came back to the Ferry 28. Gilboy was hurt but stayed in the game.

There were just two minutes left to play and Bevilacqua drew back and flipped a pass intended for Chontos, but Roussos picked it out of the air on the Martins Ferry 23 and raced behind nice interference and good blocking for a touchdown. He promptly converted the extra-

Wabash Bears Win From Keystones For Third Championship

Score Is 20 To 0 Sunday At Union High Field As 3,500 Fans Look On

Final Independent Grid Game Of Year; Crisci Thanks Committees

FOR the third straight year the Wabash Bears football team of Mahoningtown is being congratulated as the independent football champions of New Castle.

The game was played at the Union High field with 3,500 fans looking on, the Bears topped the highly touted Keystone A. C. team under a 20 to 0 score.

At the conclusion of the game with the fans giving the Bears a rousing reception, President Franklin Crisci of the football league, walked to the center of the field and presented the Bears with a beautiful silver loving cup donated by the Perelman company, emblematic of the 1938 city championship. This was the final football game of the year here.

Listless First Period
Neither team was able to gain much ground in the first period, and it was a nip and tuck battle almost every minute. In the second period things started to happen for the Bears, with Palkovitch kicking the ball to the Keys on the 8-inch line. The Keys punted right back to the Bears on the Keystone 30-yard line. DeCaprio picked up five yards to the 25.

On the next play Blackie Adams, led by Toscano and Skip Russo, turned and wheeled off tackle for 25 yards and the first marker of the game. Toscano missed the extra point.

DeCaprio Tallies
After an exchange of punts in the middle of the second period, DeCaprio bucked the line for a three-yard advance that carried him over the goal line. Toscano made the extra point by placement. Coach Tippy Richards of the Bears, started to send in his reserves.

The first half ended with the Bears leading 13 to 0. The Keys could not get their offensive started against the bigger and more experienced Bears team. In the first half the Bears had eight first downs to none for the Keys.

Adams Goes Over
There was no scoring in the third period, the Keys were checked at every turn, and even Hammock had a hard time to get any yardage through the Bears line. The Bears had the ball on the Keystone 5 when the third period closed, but lost the ball on downs.

On the first play of the fourth period from back of his own goal line Hammock passed to Marks on the Keys 25-yard line. It was their first down of the game. Hammock threw a pass to Shook but it was intercepted by DeCaprio and Coppel. Adams and DeCaprio carried the ball to the two-yard mark.

Adams made the third and final touchdown of the game for the Bears. Coach Richards used a great many of his reserves after the third touchdown. Piccutta intercepted a Keystone pass late in the game, and with Skip Russo making a perfect block, hit the 15-yard line before he was downed.

Crisci Thanks Committees
The game ended at this point with the fans giving a big cheer for the Bears. President Crisci thanks the various committees that worked with him to make the benefit game a big success, especially Frank Marcelli and Skip Russo for their fine work. The Keys used seven punts, the Bears three. In the first downs the Bears led 16 to 1. In forwards the Bears tried six and made one, having one intercepted. The Keys tried five passes, made one and had one intercepted. The Keys did not have a penalty called. The Bears were penalized 10 yards for off-side.

Pitt Is Eyeing Big Ten Berth

Report Pitt Considering Offer To Join Big Ten In Place Of Chicago U.

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Editor

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14.—Fantasies as an invasion by the Martians, yet logical as simple arithmetic is the new rumor caught in the waves of conversation here today.

Pitt, according to the latest bulletins, will replace the University of Chicago in the Big Ten football conference which ultimately will bring big teams annually to fill big stadium, helping to pay off heap big mortgage.

Securing a berth in a conference, like the Big Ten, or a league, like the Ivy or Big Three, will fulfill ambitions long cherished by university officials.

Locally, Chicago is reported only too glad to give up its conference status, as football has been on the down-grade there since the graduation of Jay Berwanger, the mid-west's classic rival to Red Grange, the former "gallipin" Ghost.

Lockleys Lose To Koppel, 19-0
In a fast game played at Koppel yesterday afternoon, Lockleys football team dropped a 19-0 decision to the crack Koppel Mud Drivers.

The game excited a large crowd. A return engagement has been arranged for Lockley field.

Lockleys practice on Tuesday at 5.

Mike Raffa And Smokey Robinson Box Here Tonight

Charlie Arkett And Irvin Hicks Clash In Semi-Final Bout

CALENDAR ADORNED WITH AMATEUR STARS

Fistic fans who wend their way into The Arena tonight should witness one of the best boxing bouts of the infant indoor season because two of the classiest of 125-pound amateurs are duked out for three rounds in the grand finale of an eight bout program. They are Mike Raffa of East Liverpool and Smokey Robinson of Oil City.

Raffa has vanquished every opponent he has met here. Robinson has lost but one decision, that award going to Billy Sharp, the champion of West Virginia.

The smoke-hued lad believes that tonight is his night and if such turns out to be and he cogs the nod from the decision officials he will get a second chance at Billy Sharp.

According to Eddie Flick, trainer for Robinson, Robinson did not believe that Sharp was as classy as he turned out to be and Smokey did not prepare as faithfully as he might have.

And because he received a rather good set-back Robinson determined to train vigorously this time, which Flick claims he has done. If he can hold Raffa even or shade him he will appear here again.

Both are good boxers. It is a question as to which is the hardest puncher. Raffa has not been in trouble nor has Robinson in any of their bouts and hence the query of the stamina of each remains an issue.

Raffa likes to shoot straight lefts to the face then cross a right while Robinson's best work has been to keep an opponent off balance. To-

Whether Jimmy Skopshire or Owen Willis will meet Al Stragala, Campbell, chairman of Mike Rubin, will be decided this afternoon. Both Pittsburgh 155-pounders are rated almost equal, the match-maker reports.

Don Dixon, a Golden Glove tournament winner of Pittsburgh, will meet George Peterson of McKeesport. A scrapper must be fairly good to carry off a Golden Glove meet so action is anticipated here. They weigh 118 pounds.

Hal Koach of the East Side will mingle with Jess Robinson, brother to Smokey in the second bout on the card and Halbert Brooks, Moravia street's Dancing Feet will oppose

Emanuel Church Organized When City Was Village

South Jefferson Street
Church Will Be 80 Years
Old Next Sunday

CHURCH HISTORY VERY INTERESTING

November 20 the Emanuel Evangelical congregation of New Castle, with church on South Jefferson street near the post office, is going to celebrate the 80th anniversary of its organization. The story of this congregation's start 80 years ago is interesting.

In 1858 Casper Druschel, who had learned to know Jesus Christ as his own personal Saviour in the old Salem Evangelical church in Freedom, Pa., came to New Castle to visit some of his German friends. Full of joy, he told them of his experience. His testimony found response in the hearts of several, resulting in meetings for prayer. Occasionally ministers of the Pittsburgh conference of the Evangelical church, on their way through New Castle to and from appointments on the old Harmony circuit, would stop and preach to these seeking souls. Such occasional services were first held in the homes, and then later on Sunday afternoons in an old stone church belonging to the Methodists and also another building owned by the Reformed Presbyterians.

The first Evangelical preacher coming to New Castle was the Rev. W. H. Pfeiffer. The work continued and a church building belonging to the First Christian church, but vacated by that congregation, was acquired, with the lot on which it stood on North street. Here Emanuel church worshipped and thrived.

Then the real estate was exchanged for a larger site at the corner of Elm and West Falls streets, and the church building removed to the new location. The work continued on this site and in this building until 1880, when the congregation considerably stronger and with increased financial ability, purchased the lot at the corner of South Jefferson and West South streets for $1,000. This section of New Castle was then a choice residential section. Immediately funds were raised and the present creditable structure, then really imposing, was erected, and dedicated on New Year's Sunday of 1881. Great must have been the removal from the very humble building on Elm street to the beautiful new church on Jefferson street. The old building still stands, but has been removed to the rear end of the Elm street lot, and is now a private garage. Not forgetting the day of small things, a few of the yet living elder members love to tell of the services in the Elm street building. The present church edifice on Jefferson street has been kept in splendid repair, and can serve the needs of the congregation for a number of years longer. The parsonage of the congregation was added to the church during 1896-97, during the pastorate of Rev. C. F. Negele, a prominent pastor of the Evangelical church.

Emanuel church is rapidly passing out of the transition period from German to English. Only two Sunday morning services in each month are now conducted in German. She served well the German element of the population of New Castle, even sacrificing more rapid growth had she yielded to the call for a ministry in English, but soon she will be ready to cooperate more fully with her English speaking sister churches downtown to save needy souls irrespective of language.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Hitting the nail on the head is the wrong thing to do. We are speaking of the finger or toe nail.

If such occurs, the nail discolors, may come off.

It takes from four to four and one half months for complete regrowth of a nail.

Abnormalities of the nails convey valuable hints to diagnosticians.

They may be associated with diseases serious or simple.

Anemia, tuberculosis and hypothyroidism alter nail structure.

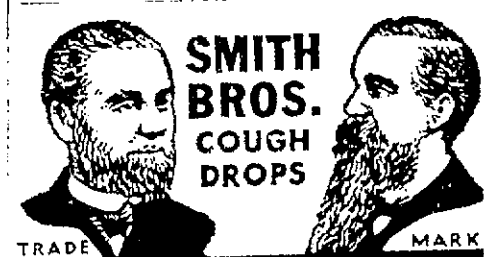

Skin diseases often affect the nails.

Follicles, inflammations of the finger, cause nail changes.

It is difficult to hide finger nail abnormalities.

They usually suggest some underlying malady.

Swing Fans Are Now On Offensive

"United Hot Clubs Of America" Organized To Uphold Place Of Swing Music

BENNY GOODMAN IS HONORARY PRESIDENT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The swing fans are on the offensive. Recent full of the coals of criticism that have been heaped upon their swaying heads, they brought the "United Hot Clubs of America" into existence with an advisory board, a headquarters and a program.

The program is "to help erase the stigma of sensationalism and public ignorance that is now attached to swing music."

Benny Goodman is honorary president of the hot clubs and the advisors are Marshall Stearns, professor of English at Yale University, and a singer, Dorothy Baker, author of "Young Man With A Horn"; Paul Whiteman, Duke Ellington, Gene Krupa, Count Basie, Tommy Dorsey, Louis Armstrong and Milton Gabler.

As its first official act, the board of directors announced solemnly that "swing will always remain as one of America's few cultural contributions to the world of art."

They think they've got something there.

Sentiment of swing fans is that their beloved music is being blamed for high crimes of which it is not in itself guilty.

Even the linguistic quarterly, "American Speech," of Columbia University Press, carries this statement:

"Because of the close relationship between 'swing' music and Marijuana, the drug has had much sensational publicity and is used widely in small doses to release the sexual rhythms essential to a complete response to 'swing'."

Boy Suicides After Accident Killing Boy

(International News Service)

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Nov. 14.—Depressed over the death of a hunting companion, George Pye, 19, shot and killed himself in a woods two miles west of here after his shot gun discharged accidentally, killing Frank Greenwald, 12 years old.

Another youthful member of the hunting party, Clarence Voller, Jr., 12, tried in vain to prevent Pye from shooting himself, but as deputy sheriffs explained later, "Clarence was too small to stop the bigger boy."

The three boys were tramping through the woods in search of pheasants and rabbits when Pye's gun discharged and young Greenwald fell dead.

"George ran over to Frank and bent over him," Clarence related. "Then—I tried to stop him; I tried to stop him—but he pushed the gun against his own head and pulled the trigger."
